The book here (pages extracted from):

A. I. BERG (editor), Cybernetics at Service of Communism - USSR, Volume I, Moscow/Leningrad, 1961, translation published by Office of Technical Services, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., 1962, 435 pages, $22.25 [This publication was prepared under contract for the Joint Publication Research Service as a translation or foreign-language research service to the various government departments].

At page 'a' of the translation we have: Kibernetiku-na Sluzhbu Kommunizmu difficult to read, but confirmed at p.256 of Gerovitch (2004).

Using Google translate from Kibernetiku-na Sluzhbu Kommunizmu we obtain:
Кибернетики-на Службу Коммунизму

Google translate in English gives back:
Cybernetics - to the Service of Communism

Gerovitch (2004), at p. 256, translates:
Cybernetics-in the Service of Communism
His note at p. 16, related to the title here above, contains: The gist of the dash in this title was "must be put."
